

Environmental Policy

We make every effort to affect the environment as little as possible in the design and production of our products. We have a constant, productive developmental environmental protection plan for saving our natural resources; even in our product development, we make every effort to foresee every environmental impact. It is our goal not to adversely affect the environment in any way - even above what is lawfully regulated.

When planning and executing new procedures we use state-of-the-art knowledge whenever possible, as dictated by economic sense and efficiency.

We commit ourselves to obey all current environmental regulations. We mutually cooperate with our clients, governmental agencies and suppliers in matters of environmental protection. We are of the opinion that environmental concerns are not strictly a concern of governments, but the responsibility of each company and lastly, a concern of each individual person. It is our firm's intention that our products during and after manufacture shall affect the environment in the least way possible
